Nobody learns who.

$68.7B

in Bitcoin is permanently lost. A lot of it belonged to people who died.

Your bank account has a nominee field.
Your wallet does not.

You deposit, name your nominees, and check in.

the chain sees a vault exists

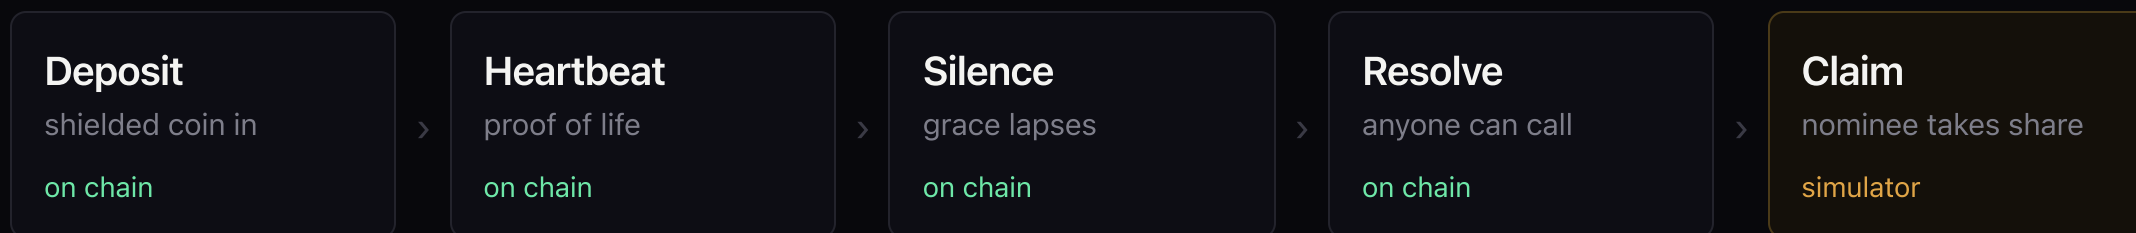

One day you stop checking in.

the chain sees a heartbeat stopped

Your nominees prove they belong and take their share.

the chain sees three anonymous claims

It never sees who you are, who they are, how much each one got, or even how many of them there were.
